BURNELL FORD

BURNELL FORD FEELS LIGHTNING BOLTS TO INTERPRET YOUNGSTER WITHOUT EVEN SEARING HIM.

"Guns," "allotted a streak of lightning and never felt it," said one of Burnell Ford's volunteers, who recently, as usual, Mr. Ford had called on boys in the audience to help him with some electrical experiments. The spectators, however, were not so fortunate as they were of them. And it was true. He had literally swallowed a streak of lightning.

Ford handles with impunity electric currents commonly supposed to be deadly. He lines a row of boys up and sends these currents through them, making the incoherent bulge which they hold between them glow brightly. He lights a candle with electric currents flashing from his tongue. He operates a submarine caisson by wireless and unfurls the flags of the Allies by unseen currents. He makes a stream of water kindle a flame and welds metal in the fierce heat generated by currents passing through his body.

Burnell Ford, the electrical wizard, who does these mystifying things through a clear understanding of electricity, is coming soon on the Lyceum circuit. His lecture-entertainment is one that will please, amuse and instruct everyone.

POPULAR RIDGE

Rev. L. E. Brough preached his farewell sermon to a large audience last Sunday.

Rev. Gunn, returned missionary from India, will fill the pulpit next Sunday. It is hoped that a large number will attend, as Rev. Gunn will surely be worth while hearing.

Mrs. H. S. Strong gave a very pleasant and interesting afternoon for Miss May Atkins at her home last Friday afternoon. The gifts, which were many, were showered on her by the Misses Ford and the Rev. Gunn. Lunch was served, after which Mrs. Lanch gave a toast to the future bride to which Miss Atkins replied most admirably.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Krause are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, born September 24th. Threatening to resume after a few days of wet interruption.

NAVY LEAGUE APPEAL

FUNDS URGENTLY NEEDED

At the present time funds are urgently needed so that we may provide comfort for our fleet, that we may help the dependants of officers and men of the Navy and Mercantile Marine who have lost their lives during the war, and that we may support hospitals, schools, orphanages and convalescent homes for our disabled seamen.

No body of men needs assistance more than the sailors, and no patriotic work is greater than that of the sailors and their dependants. The men of the merchant service do not receive any pensions, and consequently their families are not provided for.

These brave noblemen of the sea, 15,000 (not including the thousands in the navy) have given their lives in the protection of our shores and homes, and the citizens of Red Deer should be willing to assist in working and in giving.

REV. L. E. BROUGH'S FAREWELL SERMON.

Rev. L. E. Brough, having resigned his pastorate of the Red Deer Baptist Church, preached his farewell sermon on Sunday last, taking as his text, Acts, 20th chap, 27th verse, "I have not shunned to declare unto you all the council of God." The Rev. gentleman reviewed his work in Red Deer, and said that he had done his duty. He preached an eloquent sermon, which was listened to throughout with the greatest interest by the large congregation, the church being filled to the doors.

The Rev. Mr. Brough will leave Friday for Vulcan, where he will take charge of the Red Deer Mission on Sunday. He expects to move to the State of Iowa. His many friends in Red Deer will wish him all prosperity in his new field of labor.

AUGUST SHOWED AN INCREASE IN MARINE LOSSES

London, Sept. 26.—Although the British shipping losses were lower, there was a slight increase in the total Allied and neutral shipping losses due to enemy action. The marine risk in August over July, according to a statement by the Admiralty, was 327,626 tons. The total figure is 327,626 tons, an increase of 3,941; divided as follows:

Allied and neutral losses, 151,274 tons, an increase of 10,037; British losses 176,401, a decrease of 6,123.

The statement says: "The British losses from all causes in August were slightly higher than for July which was the lowest since the introduction of the submarine warfare. The British losses from enemy action alone were considered, August was better than any month since September 1916." The tonnage of steamships, gross tons and upward entering and clearing from the United Kingdom ports in August amounted to 3,188,000, an increase over July of 49,741 tons.

The second to appear will be the Rev. Mr. Brough, who will appear about January 5th and the Boverley about the 26th of March. Only a limited number of seats will be sold for the sum of $1.50. These will be offered for sale at an early date. Single admissions for each of these high class entertainments will be $1.00 for adults. Burnell Ford's lecture is so unusual and instructive that it is expected a crowded house will greet him at Red Deer. This Lyceum Course is controlled by the Elliston-White Dominion Lyceum, the same people who control our Chautauqua, and the attractions are guaranteed to be high class. But in this case a stated price is paid and the surplus remains in Red Deer. Get your season tickets early.

ROLL OF HONOR

Word was received Wednesday night by Dr. Michael Clark, M.P., of Red Deer, that his oldest son, Michael, had been killed at the front. Michael Clark left Calgary for the 15th (Red Deer) as sergeant-major, but on being transferred to go over to the front was later raised to the rank of corporal. This is the second time he has been hit. The first time he received a bullet in the throat which narrowly missed cutting the jugular vein. He leaves a wife and two children, a girl of six and a boy of nine. Mr. Clark is at present at the coast, whether and how soon he will be home is a question. The children are with their grandfather, Dr. Clark, on the farm near Quesnel.

Dr. Clark has two other sons in the front, one of whom was seriously injured in Canada a year ago after getting the rank of sergeant-major. He is still in the hospital.

The grieving of all his constituents will go out to Dr. and Mrs. Clark and the family in their great loss.

BULGARIANS ARE DEMORALIZED

USKUB MUST BE TAKEN TO MAKE VICTORY COMPLETE

London, Sept. 27.—The reports received Thursday emphasized the demoralization of the Bulgarians, who are retreating in confusion, leaving behind an enormous amount of material, and probably many thousands of prisoners, as the allied troops strain every energy to get to Uskub, and thereby make the victory complete.

It is pointed out that the Bulgarian army, estimated to aggregate 300,000 men, is in a very dangerous position. The victory will not be decisive, in the opinion of the military experts, until Uskub, the centre of all the enemy communication lines, is captured. If that is accomplished, it is believed the victory will be numbered among the decisive ones of the war.

The renewed resistance of the Bulgarians, and the arrival of German reinforcements in Macedonia, have not succeeded in stemming the great Allied advance. British troops entered Bulgaria's post-Poshtovo, thus avoiding the Belchist mountains, which, it is feared, might bar its progress, while the Serbians, French, Greeks, and British troops routed the Bulgarians from either side of the great salt lake which now stretches far into Serbia.

WHAT SERBIANS ARE DOING.

The Serbians, who are taking the leading part in the liberation of their country, are at the gates of Irbid and their cavalry entering the town of Irbid, has cut the only railway road northwestward, connecting from Priple to Velea. A large body of Bulgarians is reported to be attempting to escape. This probably will lead to an abandonment by the enemy of the Babuna mountains which are considered virtually impregnable.

The review of the first day's fighting shows that it is not a case of the Allies chasing the enemy who is willing to retreat. On September 18, the British and French forces attacked on either side of Lake Doiran, which lies almost at the eastern extremity of the present line. West of the lake the Allies captured the ridge running from Irbid town westward, but the Allied left was driven back. Some Bulgarian outposts east of the lake were captured, but the Bulgarians, against the Bulgarian main line were fruitless. The next day the Allied troops gained a little more ground on the right, but were unable to hold all their gains. The Bulgarians are described as having put up a determined resistance in the fierce fighting.

GENERAL RETREAT STARTED

The next day, however, the Serbs, French and Italians broke the Bulgarian front further westward, and the Bulgarians began a general retreat along the whole line which since has developed into a rout. The reports of prisoners and guns taken are so surprising owing to the rapid advance of the Allies and the centering of all Allied energies in getting to their objectives.

FACE STUPENDOUS TASK

It is pointed out that prior to the beginning of this war the Allies had no great superiority in numbers, and that they face a stupendous task in maintaining communications through the city which they have penetrated. Some of this country is exceedingly rough. Even should the Allies not take Uskub, or if there should be some other development which would prevent the making of the victory a decisive one the experts believe that the Bulgarians have suffered so heavily in men and material that it is doubtful if the army will be able to recover without the aid of the central powers, and that contingency is viewed as unlikely.

At any rate, the Serbians have regained the greater part of Serbian Macedonia.

BULGARIA QUILTS

The announcement was made officially on Monday that Bulgarian delegates had concluded an armistice between Bulgaria and the Allies on the Allies' own terms.

This means that Bulgaria has thrown herself on the mercy of the Allies and quits the war. It also means the death blow to Turkey, and the end of the war in sight.

100000 PRISONERS IN WEEK RECORD BAG

ALLIES COMPLETE MOST AMAZING PERIOD OF VICTORIES OF ENTIRE WAR

London, Sept. 29.—The past week has been the most amazing of the war. The allies are advancing victoriously on practically every front. During the week they have taken prisoners far in excess of one hundred thousand of whom nearly forty thousand were captured in the last three days on the western front and fifty thousand in Palestine. They have also taken more than nine hundred guns.

Sir Douglas Haig reports further successes. The town of Cambrai is now under British guns. Here the British have been successful in piercing the Allied troops are sheltered in commodious German dugouts. The battle is continuing in favor of the Allies, and the German are in the midst of confused retreat. Marston and Gulsian are in Allied hands.

A new offensive was commenced Saturday in Flanders, where Belgium in conjunction with the second British army attacked the front between Ypres and Dismale. Post-capelle has been captured as well as most of the outposts of Houtholst.

KNOX CHURCH ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

The anniversary services in connection with Knox Presbyterian Church were most worthy and profitable in every respect this year. The preaching of Dr. McRae has no uncertain sound in it, and his presence and address were most helpful to all who were present. The past supper we have ever had in this church was the way many people have been at this annual supper for years expressed their appreciation of this undertaking by the ladies of the Knox church. The use of the automobile brought many people from the country districts, and the presence of these added greatly to the pleasure and success of the occasion. The "fine crowd" that filled the church thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment and address on "Education after the war" by Dr. McRae, whose life as a student in Germany gave him a special opportunity to see the strength and weakness of the German system. The address was an inspiration to all citizens to insist upon thoroughness and help to make it possible, and war against leaving out vital religion in the saving element in the education of the child.

The prize list and other notes will appear in next week's issue, having arrived too late for this week.

ACTIVITIES OF FOE ALIEN TO BE CURBED

Ottawa, Sept. 26.—The government has taken strong steps to suppress the activities of enemy aliens. Thirteen organizations have been declared to be unlawful. They must be disbanded and it is declared unlawful to attend any of their meetings. The list is headed by the I.V.W. The remainder are:

The Russian Social Democrats, the Russian revolutionary group, the Russian workers' union, the Russian Social revolutionists, the Ukrainian Social Labor Party, the Social Democrats of the Bolsheviks, the Social Democrats of Anarchists, the Workers of the International Industrial Union, the Chinese National League and the Chinese Labor association. These organizations have been carefully investigated by the government, which has copies of their literature. It is all of a revolutionary and Bolshevik character. Penalties of five years in prison or $5,000 in fines can be imposed for belonging to these organizations. The order-in-council is general in character and gives authority to suppress any association that advocates political, social or economic reform by force. There are in future to be no meetings except those of a religious character to be held in any language or in Russian, Finnish or Ukrainian.

HOW SHE KNEW.

"That woman next door is really dreadful," said a young married woman. "She does nothing but talk the whole day long. She can't get any work done, I'm sure." "Oh!" remarked her husband; "to whom does she talk?" "Way, to me, dear, of course," was the reply, "over the fence!"

INSPECTOR PIPER NEW ASSISTANT TO SUPT. BRYAN

Inspector J. S. Piper, who has been acting as assistant superintendent of the provincial police during the absence of Supt. Bryan on field inspection work, has been appointed by the police commission to permanent office in that capacity. He will hereafter be attached to the headquarters staff and will remove to Edmonton. Before his transfer to that city he was inspector for the force at Lethbridge.

The work of the provincial police is going satisfactorily in all parts of the country, Supt. Bryan reports on his return from a trip to the southern districts. A visit has now been made by the superintendent to all the divisions of the force except Edmonton, and arrangements will be made shortly for an inspection of the several detachments in this territory, thus completing a survey of the province. The force has gained materially in the good opinion of the public, Supt. Bryan finds, and some of the vigilance work the men have done within the past few months has had the effect of creating general confidence in the force and its ability to look after the enforcement of law and order in Alberta.

BENTLEY AND DISTRICT

THE IDLE THOUGHTS OF A BUSY FARMER.

Now that the Germans are being sent back on the western front and see signs of a new offensive on the east, we may look for vigorous peace propaganda from them. Peace proposals coming direct from Germany need not worry us. We have only to remember their absolute disregard of all agreements, promises and the conventions of civilized nations to know that the only Germany with which we can make peace is one that is beaten to a frazzle and with not a kick left.

What we have to look out for is the German inspired pacifist at home. The Germans count on these to help their nefarious schemes. In an article in a German paper by one of their professors, he says, "The diplomatic offensive which must go side by side with the Hindenburg offensive must be a real offensive; it must aim not at an agreement with the English war party, but at making the war party impossible. In order to achieve this, it is necessary to place weapons in the hands of the decent elements of the enemy peoples and that is by no means difficult." By such means he figures "the growth of the peace parties can be so far promoted that Germany's enemies will be greatly hampered in the continuation of the war."

The Germans begin to realize that nothing can prevent the Allies from defeating them unless this pacifism can be encouraged and fanned to such a degree as may embarrass the Allied governments. Lord Lansdowne is a sample of the pacifist working among the Allies for Germany. There are far more insidious ways of introducing pacifism and that will appeal to the average man or woman who would never read anything coming from Lord Lansdowne or any other Lord. Look out for the man or woman who, after Germany has made some plausible peace offer, begins to place weapons in the hands of the least instincts to stop the needless slaughter of our boys in Europe. Who will plead for the poor starving babies of Germany; how poor now could save these poor atoms who are dying by inches for proper nourishment. They will say, "The country is conquered, is offering a reasonable peace, why sacrifice any more of our fine young manhood, why condemn these millions of poor starving babies and children?" The man or woman who starts that talk is pro-German, every one of them.

As to these poor starving babies. Who raped and hurried the women, old and young, down to girls of ten years in Belgium and Northern France? German soldiers, from the lowest private to the most exalted officer. They were all once German babies. Who crucified Canadian soldiers? Who emulated Canadian prisoners? Who wantonly and of deliberate malice destroyed the homes of the poor, the mansions of the rich, and the temples erected for the worship and glory of God? Who made civilians dig their own graves before shooting them? Who maimed the children of Belgium and France by cutting off their hands? Who impaled the babies of these countries on their bayonets and carried them off on their shoulders? All this and much more was done by German soldiers, men who had once been babies. What milk had they imbibed from their mothers? What home training had they received? What motherly influence, that in a day all semblance to humanity had vanished and the naked and unadorned beast appeared? What of the babies of Germany? Are the lives of these babies, who, may grow into such men as their fathers, to be weighed against the blood spilt by our best and bravest?

Think nothing of the treasure that has been expended, think only of the brave men who have died or been maimed in the battle to bust this beast and shall we ever talk of peace till that beast is put in shape that he can never plunge this world in such a war again. I think not. This is no time for false humanity and mankind's sentiment. When you hear anyone start that soft pedal and tear stunt, look well, for then you see a pro-German.

A Philadelphia paper says, "The report that a U-boat officer saw a British ship and then went out and sank a United States ship is the clearest justification of German submarine warfare put out to date."

The German commanders who have met defeat recently are those of von Bulow, von Elom, von Mudra, von Bocho, von Eben, von Furst and von du Maritz. Just as precisely, von by von they get it in due neck.

200,000 ARMY NOW RAISED IN SIBERIA

Washington, Sept. 26.—A dispatch to the Russian embassy from M. Golovatchev, assistant minister of foreign affairs of the Omsk government, said that an army of more than 200,000 men had been formed in Siberia by conscription and that there were 30,000 officers available to train and lead it. The army is being organized on the basis of strict discipline, it was said, and will constitute an increasingly powerful force to co-operate with the Allied and Czech-Slovak forces in Siberia.

With the safe arrival of United States Consul-General Poole at Stockholm from Moscow additional information concerning conditions in central Russia have reached the state department. The massacre of Russians in Moscow was continuing September 26th, with about 100 executions nightly. More than 1,000 persons had been shot in retaliation for the attempt to kill Lenin, the Bolshevik premier.

London, Sept. 25.—Two British aviators, flying in one machine, brought about the surrender of 65 Germans, and without leaving their plane, shepherded the party across No Man's Land to the British lines, according to a story from the battle field, made public Tuesday.

The pilot and his observer had been attacked from a trench and repelled to the enemy fire with his machine gun, killing one and wounding three. The Germans in a panic ceased firing and hoisted a white handkerchief.

As there was no British infantry in that neighborhood, the pilot descended to within fifty feet of the ground and ordered the Germans out of the trenches, enrolling them to insure that none escaped. All were safely brought in and handed over to the nearest British troops. The Aviators then resumed their patrol.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1918

"The Albertan (Calgary) cannot understand why the government was not content to permit a man with the principles and ideas and unquestioned ability of Mr. Galbraith to go unopposed. It could not see that he would support progressive legislation, and that when he opposed any measure that it would be well to give it further consideration."

THE RED DEER ELECTION.

The Calgary Albertan came back at the News on Friday in a somewhat reckless manner under the heading of "Just a bluff," and appears to be a little excited. It says:

"The Red Deer News knows nothing about anything that even looks like irregularities in the Red Deer election. It has heard of nothing, and gives no names; even denies that it said anything about officials taking any part in the election at all."

"What we did say was that a still hunt was going on to make a machine candidate secure in his seat," says the News.

"The Albertan suspected as much. What the News tried to do was to create an unfair and utterly unjustified suspicion that the government was using deliberate tactics to elect the government candidate in that riding. When called to account for its reckless statement, it has no information to give. It isn't in the business of giving information. That isn't part of the game."

"The Albertan goes further, and asks the Red Deer News to explain what it means by 'the still hunt.' If there is anything wrong in the way that the government is conducting itself, or in the way that the government candidate is conducting himself in this campaign, let the News come right out with it, here and now."

As a matter of fact, there has been no election activity by either side in Red Deer. The News is quite aware of that fact, but it attempts to deal unfairly with its opponents by trying to make the people believe by its vague assertions that the government is acting irregularly.

Well, let us look at this thing squarely in the face. To begin with, the Hon. J. R. Boyle, then Minister of Education in the Stewart government, came to Red Deer and called a meeting of the faithful to select a candidate. F. W. Galbraith, a prospective candidate, and a man who has filled every office in the gift of the party, a life-long Liberal, a man who has done more for the party than any other man in Red Deer, was deliberately left out of that meeting with other prominent Liberals because he had, they supported the Union Government. This deadly insult to these citizens could not be easily overlooked. This was the time federal politics was introduced into provincial affairs. If these men are not good enough to be supporters of the Provincial Liberal Party, then even Liberals who voted for Dr. Clark is likewise not good enough to be a member of that party, and they must resent this insult to their intelligence by Hon. Mr. Boyle, or any other government official. Why we have read somewhere that the Albertan is not content to permit a man with the principles and ideas and unquestioned ability of Mr. Galbraith to go unopposed."

The Albertan demands that we name the men who compose the dark lantern brigade, who are working in the interests of the machine candidate in this riding. As well demand the name of a highway robber or a house breaker. If these worthy gentlemen could be caught with the goods, political corruption would be a thing of the past.

The Albertan is putting up a big bluff itself in asking us to give their names. But we might just remark that following up Hon. J. R. Boyle's visit to Red Deer on official, we are credibly informed, named W. K. McRae, connected with the Department of Education, Edmonton, came to Red Deer on March 28th, and was canvassing the situation for the leading Liberals, outside of the machine element, were not in favor of putting a candidate in the field. He returned to Edmonton, and came back to Red Deer on Thursday, April 8th, and told the Liberals to get busy and get a candidate in the field. He was also in attendance at the Liberal Convention when Mr. Gaetz was nominated.

WHY DIDN'T HE?

(From the Montreal Gazette).

He claimed that if he had been in charge of recruiting in Quebec as Premier of Canada he would have known how to put the matter before the people by men of his own race and language, instead of by English speaking men of different religions. Instead of the stupid methods of recruiting used, results would have been attained which would have brought the name of French Canada and French Canadians high in the admiration of the civilized world.

The above is from a report of the address given by Sir Wilfrid Laurier at Three Rivers on the occasion of the welcome tendered to Hon. Dr. Beland. That Sir Wilfrid Laurier could have exercised a very great influence in the furtherance of recruiting in this province has never been doubted. He was not, of course, in charge of recruiting in Quebec as Premier of Canada," but he was still the most outstanding figure in his own province and among the people of his own race. Had he desired to use his great influence toward the attainment of those results "which would have brought the name of French Canada and French Canadians high in the admiration of the civilized world," the opportunity was there. It is not necessary to say more.

THE CANADIAN CORPS.

When the Canadians first made their appearance upon the battlefield the world had heard so much of the perfection of German drill that it might well be pardoned if it doubted the wisdom of pitting clerks and farmers and college boys and mechanics against professional soldiers who had been loudly and persistently hailed as "the finest troops in the world." But when the Canadians faced the German troops at the first and second battle of Ypres, Canada had no reason to be ashamed of her sons. And during the long months that followed the Canadians held their own so well that General Currie enthusiastically declared "they never failed." And when they tackled Vimy Ridge and Hill 70 and won, the world woke up to the fact that these civilian troops from the land of the maple were the equals of anything the world has produced for such work. And then they were assigned the task of taking Passchendaele Ridge—and they did it. If, then, we are told, twenty-five per cent of their number—but they took the Ridge. Then they were placed near Lens, and during the tremendous German offensive last spring they held their line, with a few miles adjoining it to the south, was the only section of the whole British line which did not give ground before the foe's terrible drive. Then when Amiens was threatened, the Canadians and the Australians were lined up side by side to drive back the foe, and that day they advanced farther than any army—French, British or German had ever advanced through an entrenched line in one day; and the next day they again went nearly as far. And, latest of all, when the Wehrmacht was to be penetrated, the Canadians again had the post of honor. This was the most formidable part of all the German line. It barred wire entanglements were twenty feet deep, and the barbs were as thick as a man's little finger. And just behind the wire were ferro-concrete positions every hundred yards, with from two to five machine guns. Then came more crises—barbed wire, and then a great trench which was constructed specially to repel tank attacks. Then came another belt of barbed wire, and then the continuous tunnel, forty feet below the ground which protected the troops from shell fire. Against this last word in defensive warfare the Canadians hurled themselves, and despite the fact that the Germans were four to one in two hours they had pierced clean through. Is it any wonder that the Germans do not care to face these men whom no entanglements can stop and no machine-guns can prevent from advancing? Canada is proud of her dauntless sons, of whom it can still be said, "They have never failed." Incidentally they have given the world a lesson which America's gallant men will no doubt forget: that the civilian soldiers of free States is more than a match for the professional soldiers of States which are not free—Christian Guardian.

OUR WEEKLY SERMON.

The News has been publishing a weekly sermon for its readers for the past two weeks, and we hope to be able to continue this addition to our paper. The sermon is original and is kindly contributed locally. The simple religious gospel teachings will be the theme, and as this great Red Deer district has many struggling people who may not have an opportunity to attend public worship, it may be read by them with interest.

The families of the Balmoral district are invited to meet for public worship in the school house, next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The parents are reminded of the memorizing of Scripture appointed for the children at the last meeting.

When Germany defeated France in 1870 an enormous money indemnity was exacted and a large territory ceded to the victors. That example must be followed now. Alsace and Lorraine must be restored to France. Twenty billion dollars paid to France in addition to restoring the cities that have been destroyed. Then is Belgium, and Serbia and Rumania to pay for. But the price of peace for the brutal Germans must be made so high that it will keep them busy for a century and in that time there is no vengeance—simply justice.

WINNIPEG "PICKLE" SUPPLY IS SEIZED.

North Bay, Sept. 26.—A valuable find was made here yesterday by some of the officials of the T. & N.O. railway, when a car consigned to a Winnipeg firm from a Montreal pickle firm was investigated and found to contain instead of pickles a cargo of liquor valued at $25,000. This is one of the largest hauls yet made.

ANNUAL SCHOOL SPORTS

The Field Day for the Red Deer Schools this year will be Friday, October 4th. The sports, consisting of various races, jumps and contests will begin sharply at 1 p.m. Later in the afternoon, two, and possibly three basketball games will be played by the girls. Two teams from Innisfail school have accepted challenge from Red Deer, and another challenge is out to Lacombe School. The junior boys are planning a local baseball game.

The boys and girls are anxious to make their school sports day a day of real sport and interest for the city. They therefore issue a pressing invitation to all parents and other citizens to come up to the grounds next Friday afternoon. The boys would be especially glad to have any of the men who can spare the afternoon to help them run off their events. As medals are offered to both boys and girls in classes "A," "B" and "C," competition is keen, and good judges are needed. An interest openly shown by men and women in all activities of school life is the greatest aid in making the school more what it should be.

SUPREME COURT

SITTINGS

The case of shooting with intent against Claude P. House, Kariaville, which began before Mr. Justice McCarthy on Friday afternoon, was continued Wednesday and Thursday, and resumed on Friday morning.

Evidence was given as to identification by pistol flash. Mr. P. S. Simpson could not identify at 50 to 60 feet, while Constable Chapman had better luck in an experience he had.

After Mr. Russell and Mr. Quigg had addressed the jury, His Lordship in the afternoon reviewed the evidence, reciting from the Criminal Code the various sections applicable to the affair. The case rested on the credibility of the witnesses, and the basal fact was, was House present at Adamson's stable that evening, and did he shoot at Frederickson. The judge did not say so much stress, he said, on the burning of the camp by the accused, and Mr. Quigg for the defence and for the Crown apparently did. The jury must be satisfied of the guilt of the accused beyond a reasonable doubt.

The jury were out ten minutes, and Mr. W. J. Stephenson, foreman, announced their verdict as "Not Guilty." Mr. Russell and Mr. McClure appeared for the accused, and Mr. Quigg for the Crown.

The accused was released on $1000 bail to appear at the next Court on any charge the Crown might prefer against him. There are three outstanding charges.

Rex v. A. Schillings was a charge of stealing a calf from John Budwardson. The parties reside at Dickson, and a bull calf with Budwardson's initials for August was recovered. Schillings' cattle, the animal having been altered and re-branded. The accused's story was that the calf had got into his bunch, and that he had taken it for one of his own. He did not look for a brand, as the calf was much under a year. He had assisted in identifying the calf, and discovering the first brand. The judge found him not guilty.

Schillings was also charged with using malicious language, but was acquitted. He was accused of saying that he hoped the Germans would lick the British. Even if the words had been fully proved, the judge had his doubts as to whether or not the words, uttered to a single person, would constitute such a charge as the law contemplated.

Rex v. Ponowka. Charge of wife-beating. Adjourned until next court.

It was the case of Rex v. Ponowka, who was responsible for the distribution of cars for loading to mines at Nordegg, but he accused twice over the arm with a stick, breaking the arm. He was fined $10 and costs.

Acknowledgments to Lake Field

TO every home there comes a time when every thought, every hope, every prayer for the future centres on the recovery of one loved one. In that hour of anguish, every means to recovery is sought—the highest medical skill, trained nurses, costly treatment. Does the price matter?

It may be so great as to stagger the imagination—a sum beyond the possible.

But does anyone ask, "Can we do it?" Money or no money, they do it. And somehow they pay.

It may mean doing without things they think they need. It may mean privations, sacrifices, hardships. They make unbelievable savings, they achieve the impossible, but they get the money to pay.

To-day in this critical period of our nationhood, there is imperative need for MONEY—vast sums of money.

Only one way now remains to obtain it.

The nation must save, every community, every family, every individual Canadian must save.

If anyone says "I cannot save" let him consider to what extent he would pinch himself to relieve the sufferings of a loved one at home; and surely he would not pinch less for our fighting brothers in France.

Without suffering actual privations, nearly every family in Canada can reduce its standard of living, can practice reasonable thrift, can make cheerful sacrifice to enrich the life-blood of the nation.

You who read this, get out pencil and paper NOW. Set down the items of your living expense. Surely you will find some items there you can do without.

Determine to do without them.

Start TO-DAY. Save your money so that you may be in a position to lend it to your country in its time of need.

Allies Advancing Despite Increased Enemy Resistance

TURKISH FORCES IN IMMINENT DANGER NOW

London, Sept. 25.—More than 40,000 prisoners and 265 guns have been taken by the British in their successful offensive in Palestine. It is officially stated this afternoon in the controlling of St. Quentin, and in driving the Germans and Bulgarians northward in Macedonia the Allied armies are making further progress against increased enemy resistance.

Northwest of St. Quentin the British have followed up the Allied success yesterday in which the British and French made further gains toward the town from the west and are pushing forward in the direction of the northwestern suburbs. Heavy fighting is taking place in the region of Gricourt, less than three miles north-northwest, and Senely, two and a half miles northwest. The British are advancing despite counterattacks by the Germans, who were repulsed with severe losses.

ONLY ARTILLERY ACTIVE

On the French sector to the south only the artillery has been active. The French have repulsed German attacks around Moley farm, at the western end of the Chemin des Dames.

Apparently the Allies in Macedonia have completed the splitting apart of the German Bulgarian forces east and west of the Vardar. The Serbians are pressing northward along the river toward Velea which the enemy apparently will not be able to hang on, as other Allied forces are marching northward in that direction from Priep.

OFFER STIFF RESISTANCE

Standing on the heights along the Bulgarian frontier east of the Vardar south of Domkrapa Pass, the Bulgarians are offering a stiff resistance to the Allied attempt to advance. North of the pass the enemy is retreating on Velea and it would appear that this force has been cut off from its comrades in the south, thus splitting the enemy force in two. The Bulgarians fighting on frontier west of the Vardar probably are those who fled before the French, Greek and British advance into Dolan.

It is believed in Paris the Allies will press on up the Vardar to Cusub and using this as a base to flank the Bulgarians west of Strumitsa rather than attempt to get over the hills on the southern front. In the region of Priep the money is being forced toward the Albanian frontier.

TURKS AIR CUT OFF

Aerial and artillery activity has increased markedly since the American sector southwest of Metz, but no infantry engagement has resulted.

Few details of the situation in Palestine as it has developed in the last couple of days have been reported. Only brief formal official statements tell of the capture of Acre and Haifa and the further advance of Gen. Allenby's victorious troops.

It appears that the Turkish forces which succeeded in reaching the eastern bank of the Jordan are virtually cut off and in imminent danger of capture.

SHALL EMERGE STRONGER

Allied forces advancing south of Archangel have again been attacked by Turkish forces fighting with the Poleshevi.

We are standing on top of an observation post built by the Germans on the crest of the hill. Below the hill lies a shattered village and its ruined church. "It is horrible to see all this," one says, "and think that we in Canada have escaped so free—only the lives of our men."

"Ah," he says, "but is not a strength to the character, a completion of experience? Shall we not emerge a stronger nation for it?"

THE PERFECT WORD

We are in a trench examining a bayonet a beautiful rapierlike piece of polished steel. "How much more artistic you are," one cannot help saying. "This weapon is equally effective as our own, but what a thing of beauty it is! And your camouflage is art, suiting itself perfectly to the changing aspects of soil and country, while ours is a monotony of rule and thumb which hits or misses the mark indifferently, as the case may be."

"That may be so" he replies, "but you have your admirable power of endurance. To each nation its own qualities. To the Hun that of the beast."

Of a sadder countenance is the French soldier. The tragedy of war has transformed the once merry fellow. They lack too, the outward smartness of our infantry. But the spirit is there. "On to Berlin!" we cry to a soldier in passing. He lights up at once. "That is the perfect word, monseigneur," he says with a grin.

BREAK PRUSSIANISM

London, Sept. 14.—Turkey has passed out of the war as a serious fighting factor. This is the net effect of General Allenby's crushing victory in Palestine, the full importance of which is only realized with further details which have reached Fleet street today. With that victory the German dream of securing garisons at Azzur and Yemen off from Europe and break the hold of the Turks upon Mesopotamia.

"The masterly conception of General Allenby's plan will thus be realized," says a statement today by the British mission, "and there is fair promise that the execution will tend to outbid the conception."

"The Turks have a long count of selfishness and neglect against the Germans, disasters in 1912 and 1913, abortive and disastrous offensives at Sarikamish and against the Suez Canal at the beginning of the war, and the waste of their manpower in the Dardanelles campaign has not been correctly appreciated by the world. The loss of Baer, Bagdad, Mecca, and Jerusalem, the almost inevitable loss of Medina, the Turkish losses in order to provide the German exploitation of Romania, and the isolation of their Arabian garisons must also prove a bitter memory."

TERRITORY AND PRESTIGE

"The present Turkish advance in the Caucasus has been carried out not with the assistance but in defiance of the Germans and this, with the isolated success under Turkish command at Kut, forms the only entry on the credit side of the book."

was not result has been Turkey the loss of territory and prestige and the depletion of her man-power, which can only prove a source of keen satisfaction to the Bulgarians.

"It is a marvelous thing how long the Turks have submitted to the machinations of the committee of London and Greece, and the terms of the German-born leaders, who display ability only in their escape from the consequences of their interference in their own affairs. In the battlefields, after losing Jerusalem, Falkenheim, of 'Thunderbolt' fame made good his escape to Europe, while Kressa von Kressenstein obtained access to a new zone of interference in the Caucasus. Lyman von Sanders escaped the net thrown around his life, including his German bodyguard, by the short space of six hours, and, thanks to Turkish glibness and protection of the committee on London and progress, may yet survive to see his iron crescent under the Lintner.

"It is a source of the greatest anxiety to the British Empire that her Indian representatives have so large a share in this far-reaching victory. The striking power and maneuvering capacity which they have developed under the able leadership of their commander cannot be classed as other than remarkable when the difficulties of the terrain are considered."

CANADA TO HAVE WHOLE

BRIGADE OF TANK CORPS

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—In the recent successful British offensives in which the Canadians have taken such a prominent part, the tanks have proved one of the most effective arms of the service. The Canadians, however, have no tank service of their own, and it has now been decided to organize a complete brigade. A brigade consists of three battalions. There are sixty tanks to a battalion, making 180 in all.

The force consists of ninety officers to a battalion, one medical officer, forty-one sergeants and staff sergeants, and 546 of other ranks in each battalion. The battalion which is being raised at Petawawa is recruited seventeen artillery officers and forty other officers have been enlisted from the ranks. Most of the other men are from artillery. The battalion will leave shortly for England, where they will be trained. Nothing has been done yet as to the command of the brigade, but Gen. Denison may be promoted and made brigadier general.

OUR SOLDIERS HAVE WON NEW

PLACE FOR CANADA—ROWELL

Calgary, Sept. 20.—Addressing the Calgary Board of Trade and other organizations at a luncheon today, Hon. N. W. Rowell dealt exhaustively with the eastern front and the Canadian role to be sent to Siberia. Canada, he said, had swung out into the full current of the world's life, and whether we welcomed or repudiated the prospect, Canada could never again lead the comparatively secluded life of the past.

The accomplishment of the soldiers of Canada had won for her a new place among the nations and she stood forth as one of the unselfish champions of a great and noble cause. Her own hopes and the opportunity to develop her own peaceful and democratic institutions in association with other nations of the British commonwealth.

PROGRESSIVE FARMING

To be informed, and up to date, on the general progress and advancement in farming, probably no better opportunity is afforded than that offered by a study of the annual report of the Dominion Experimental Farms system. This report for the year ending March 31st, 1917, has just made its appearance and consists of 160 pages, detailing the experiments and activities all have taken place at all the farms and stations throughout the country. As every province is represented, some at three or four different points, practically all the information is given, and knowledge can be obtained, not only of the capabilities in production of every section of the country, but facts regarding results that may be achieved by applying the latest and most improved methods of farming. The report can be had by every farmer in Canada by addressing the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

PRESENTATION TO RETIRING OFFICER

J. F. Boyce Remembered by Pupils and Staff at School of Technology

(Calgary Albertan, Sept. 21st)

The second annual at home of the Vocational Branch of the Invalid Soldiers' Commission held at the Institute of Technology and Art last evening, was a very enjoyable affair. The assembly hall was crowded with men who are attending the institute, and their friends.

The feature of the evening was a presentation to Mr. Boyce from the staff of the institute. The presentation was made by Mr. Smith and Mr. Wilder. Mr. Smith remarking that when the donors were about to present a fitting gift, in thinking of the long hours, days, nights and Sundays, which Mr. Boyce had spent at the school, they concluded the best thing he would enjoy most would be a little more time on his hands, and the presentation was made in the form of a very handsome desk clock, with the hope that it would mark time for Mr. Boyce for many happy and prosperous years. The address was as follows:

In replying, Mr. Boyce thanked all who had been present at the presentation of the school. Every member of the staff, he said, had worked as if their favorite form of enjoyment was spending long night hours and Sundays at the school, and that things had been so harmonious that the position had been in no way difficult. He spoke of the support which he had received from all the public bodies of the province and from the various associations, Hon. C. R. Mitchell, the provincial treasurer, Hon. J. R. Boyle, the minister of education, Hon. Duncan Macdonald, minister of agriculture, stating that it had only been necessary to ask for what was needed and the wish was granted. He had been admitted to the normal school without the payment of fees, and to the agricultural schools also. This support had also been received from the mayor, the city council and commissioners, the boards of trade and chambers of commerce, the Canadian Club, Rotary Club, the Women's Canadian Club and all similar organizations, which were all anxious to do something for the retired soldier. Business men had given him a most hearty reception whenever they were appealed to for anything the institute needed.

A warm tribute was paid to Dr. D. Miller for his foresight in making the school possible.

Success of School.

Of the seven or eight thousand men who have been discharged from the military service in Alberta, probably 1,500 were discharged before leaving for overseas, and with those of course the commission was not concerned. Efforts had been made to get in touch with those who returned from overseas before the commission had been appointed.

At present there are every day from 450 to 470 men in attendance at the classes, and from fall to spring 75 to 100 at Edmonton and Ogden. In addition men are taking courses about the city under the same conditions as if they were in the school. One man is learning pastry making in a bakery, another is learning the operation of a lathe, another is learning the operation of elevators and one man at pictorial sign painting.

As a result of this vocational training among older men—who he said enlisted at the age of 42, but whose work was in reality that of a young man. Mr. Boyce believes that there will be a general influence all over country as these men act as trainers of schools in their districts, toward the better adjusting of hand and head work in the schools, and he also hopes to see in every well equipped hospital occupational work carried on as a part of curative treatment and training for the purpose of assisting industrial cripples, instead of their being obliged by reason of their physical condition to remain in the hospital until the compensation act.

The presentation follows:

"Mr. J. F. Boyce, Registrar, Department of Education, Calgary, Alberta."

Dear Mr. Boyce:—During the past two years on many occasions you must have felt that the members of the Invalid Soldiers' Commission were doing a great deal of work for the purpose of assisting industrial cripples, instead of their being obliged by reason of their physical condition to remain in the hospital until the compensation act. You have seen that the members of the Invalid Soldiers' Commission are doing a great deal of work for the purpose of assisting industrial cripples, instead of their being obliged by reason of their physical condition to remain in the hospital until the compensation act.

Many of us who during the first months of our training, desirous of success were helped by your words of advice or were directed into more suitable paths of training. You have kept in close touch with many men after the completion of their courses, and have assisted them in gaining higher positions. Your broad views on vocational training will have a permanent effect on the educational development of this province, and we have no doubt that in your new position you will still be of great interest in re-training and re-construction problems.

In a few years we shall look back with pleasure on the profitable months spent in the various courses of training. You have given us all our classes were greatly promoted by your sincerity of feeling and pure heartedness. Your support and encouragement were heartily appreciated by you. In your new sphere of service you will carry with you the goodwill and the best wishes of all who have come in contact with you during your tenure of the position of District Vocational Officer.

CONTRIBUTED

"Where there is no vision, the people perish. (Revised version: 'Cast off restraint!')—Prov. 29: 18.

The change which the revisers made in the translation of this verse is a very important truth, viz., that a sense of responsibility is a great safeguard to life.
Probably no better example of this can be given than the present condition of Russia, where the casting off
of restraint has led the nation to appealing disaster.

Recklessness, lawlessness, sin, the shrinking of moral and social responsibility will inevitably work out the same as the consequences of the "soul that slumeth, it shall die."

Let us not suppose for a moment that the universe is governed by caprice or that the will of God are actually in authority as the regulations of the Hague Tribunal. God's laws are not decrees arbitrarily imposed upon His creatures, but principles of life written not on tablets of stone but inherent in the very nature of things and enforced with unerring precision. To ignore these things is to invite disaster; to observe them will ensure life and health and peace.

Love of freedom is one of the cardinal principles of modern life. It inspires men to deeds of heroism, and steels their nerves to endure hardships which under normal conditions would be altogether unbearable.

It arouses men to revolt against forms of government, social and economic wrongs which have hampered the progress of mankind and which warped and maimed the individual in his development. There is a casting off of restraint which savors of life.

What then is freedom? Is it the right to do as one pleases? Were men free when everyone did what was right in his own eyes? No.
When one selfishly chooses only that course which is pleasing to oneself, the end is not freedom, but a more subtle form of slavery—"Whatever is selfish desire, whatever is saccrilegious."

It is the feeling that we are of use to others which makes life worth while. To play some part, however slight, in the drama of life; to make some contribution to the common good; to minister in some way to another's need—"to do one's bit"— gives life its sweetest joy and robs
the grave of its terror. Such a life expresses the spirit of the Christian merits divine approval and eternally endures.

Back of every action which has moral value is a creative thought, a sustaining ideal. As a man thinks in his heart, so he—and this truth holds in the life of a nation just as truly.

It used to be said that the home
the church and the school were the institutions in which the ideals of life are expressed and maintained, but this statement is hardly true today. Social conditions have warped against the sanctity of the home. The church as an institution does not hold a monopoly of religion and spiritual power, and the training of the schools has not sufficed to fit our growing youth for citizenship.

All these institutions are being readjusted to meet the changing conditions. To them we must add the growing influence of the Press, and the new spirit which is being expressed in what may broadly be termed the modern social movement.

We need not fear the outcome of these things, for the very thing that safely does not lie in footpath attempts to steady "the ark of God."

Clearer thinking, keener sympathy and deeper spirit of conservation will give to men and nations a new vivid realization of the issues of life.
The judgments of God are in the earth today, and men are being compelled to see.

The searchlights sweep the sombre
skies—
Slow-wheeling—focused here and there
To catch the lurking treacheries
Within their wide-flung whirling snare;
And when they catch the hidden foe
The eager hunters lay him low.

God's mightier beams are searching out
The soul of life and lighting it;
That His fair hosts may put to rout
The foe that have been blighting it.
Sweep clean, O Lord, and beautify,
And come Thou in, and occupy!

MARSHAL FOCH
STATES ALLIES
OVER THE CREST

NOW GOING DOWNHILL—HUN
IS BADLY SHAKEN UP
AND DOWN

London, Sept. 25.—Marshal Foch, commander-in-chief of the allied armies on the western front, who dislikes interview and rarely grants one, received a few newspapermen at his headquarters on Tuesday.

Among those received was the correspondent of the Times, who took records the marshal's brief utterances, made in an ejaculatory manner with the use of hardly any words.

"The British army is better than ever. It fights better than ever. All of its losses have been made good and it is a more splendid army than it has been before."

"The Americans are splendid and are wonderfully gallant in the field.
Ten thousand French Americans
arrive in France every day."

"The French is the same good old army that it was in 1914. No more is to be said."

In discussing the general situation, the marshal said:
"The enemy is shaken up and shaken down, but is still holding out.
You must not think that we shall get to the Rhine immediately. We have passed over the crest and are now going down hill. It is rather impudent as we go, like a rolling ball,
so much the better."

With a few cordial words the marshal dismissed his interviewers and resumed his work on his maps.

TWO ARMIES
ANNIHILATED
IN PALESTINE

STAFF NARROWLY ESCAPE
GERMAN FIELD MARSHAL AND CAPTURE

Washington Sept. 24.—In General
Allenby's brilliant victory over the Turks in Palestine the British military mission here finds great satisfaction not only because it virtually wipes out Ottoman power there, but because of its demonstration anew
of the disaster that accompanies German domination and exploitation of the Turkish army.

Field Marshal von Sanders commander of the German army of about 100, 000 men in Palestine two of which General Allenby annihilated von Sanders himself barely escaping with his staff. The third is in flight and its defeat will cut the Turkish overlordship of the near middle ises to the Vatican are now seen at their

A FRENCH ATHEIST'S
AWAKENINGA VOICE FROM THE BATTLE-FIELDS OF FRANCE

In an elegantly furnished house in England, an aged General and his son sat after dinner discussing the day's news with its connected sorrows brought to several families in their neighborhood, whose sons had fallen on the battlefield. One remarked, "It is hard lines to lose an only son, for with him the light of the life goes out. It makes me ask the old question—'Is life worth living?' This was asking up some of us to see things in a new light."
Nodding assent, the General reached toward a printed sheet which had evidently been cut from a daily London newspaper, and saying, "Listen to this," began to read as follows:

The celebrated French writer, Lar-ridan, whose pen formerly had nothing but biting sarcasm and scorn for every religious faith, now urges, in a public confession, his only saving ground for their souls. All the papers in France, even the most radical, have respectfully printed it. It runs as follows:

"I laughed at faith and considered myself wise. I no longer retain my gaily over this derision, as I see France bleeding and weeping. I stood by the roadside and saw the dead. They went on so joyfully to meet death. It made me ask the question, 'What is making you so gay?' And they began to pray—they said 'We believe in God.' I counted our nation's sacrifices, and saw how the people praying could carry them. Then I felt within me that it was something, something to know of an Eternal Homeland which shines with love, while the earth is glowing with hatred. This knowledge is the knowledge of a little child, and I am no longer a child—and I am so poverty, and that causes me to shiver. A nation must despair
if it does not believe that the pain of earth can be exchanged for the joy of heaven. To hope when everything is sinking, who can do that without faith? I stand in the streams of blood on French soil and I see the rivers of tears. I doubt! But the old woman from Brittany, whose sons had died to death—she prays! How ashamed I am before this woman! I believe and I have everlasting life."

How terrible and burning are the wounds of a people where there is not one drop of this Wonderful One's Blood! This Wonderful One! Oh!
I am not named His Name! He was so good! And I—What will become of France—of her children,
if they do not believe? If its women do not weep? That nation will conquer in this war which has confidence in God. France was great in bygone days, but it was a France mixed with sin. How is it with France at this moment? It is a France which no longer can believe. Shall its future be better? By God's good hand, yes, only through God's good hand! He holds a nation of dead covers the fields! How difficult to remain an atheist on this vast national cemetery!
I cannot. I have betrayed myself and you—who have read my books and sung my songs. It was a most ravaging and most terrible dream! I see death and I cry for life. France! France! turn to faith —to your beautiful days. To give up God is to be for ever lost. I know not if I be alive tomorrow,
but this I must tell my friends—
Larridan dare not die an atheist!
Hell does not trouble me, but this thought troubles me—a God lives and I stand far from him! My soul shall joy mightily if I ever experience that moment, when, kneeling,
can say—
I believe, I believe in God, I believe.

These words are the weavers of humanity, but for those who know them not it is night!
"That is a wonderful confession indeed, and shows how bankrupt unbelief is in the face of death and disaster," remarked the General.
"And many of us are not much further than he, if we had only the honesty to own it. But this man is bringing these things to light in a way few ever knew them before,"
said the General. God grant that it may be so with many, and that God, Christ, salvation, judgment, and things eternal may be heard and heeded by many, by us, by me, by you, as they have never been before.
The gospel is God's good news. The glorious, governing words of John 3: 16 have given the knowledge of present salvation and the certainty of eternal life to thousands. They will to the reader, if accepted by faith
as the very words of the eternal God.
Listen: "For God so loved the world that He gave His only-begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." Here is God's aid, and mine. God loved and God gave,
I believe and I have everlasting life."

THE REVOLT
Against Bound Party Methods

The late Joseph Cowen, formerly M.P. for Newcastle-on-Tyne, England:

"I put first Liberal principles. They put first the Liberal party. I care more for measures. They care more for men. In this lies all the quarrel. * * *
Party is simply a means to an end. It is not the end.
Leaders are all very well in their place, but none of them are infallible, and I will surrender my judgment in matters of principle to no man, however powerful,
and to no body of men, however numerous."

M. Ostrogorski, in "Democracy and the Organization of Political Parties":

"Formalism will never lose its rights; it is inevitable in every body of men, the great majority of whom are naturally incapable of discriminating and judging, and naturally accept an external rule for their conduct, follow a conventional token, look to the sign or the label. This is especially the case in the life of a democracy, owing to the great number of citizens. It is not a question of doing away with formalism, but of diminishing its influence and increasing that of judgment, of which the world will never have enough. Sentiment will always act on the majority of mortals with more force than will reason, but it is desirable to lessen the power of blind impulses and to let rational motives have a greater share in the conduct of the citizens. * * * The average elector will always fall into line, but it is material that he should do so in a less passive, less servile way, that he should look as often as possible
where he is going, that those whom he follows should not be so sure of his automatic adhesion as to lead him as they please."
